DESPAIR OVER RATION FORM IS SUICIDE CAUSE

Miss Fannie Rager, 76, Greenmount, Gettysburg R. 2, was found dead this morning by Mrs. James Plank, with whom she had lived since last Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. Plank found the body hanging from a rafter in the attic of their home about 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, said Miss Rager had died about 5 o'clock this morning and listed the cause as suicide.

The suicide was apparently caused by inability to fill out a rationing form for additional kerosene. Pinned to Miss Rager's dress front was an envelope from the local War Price and Rationing board. She had written on the back of the envelope, "My Dear Lord, forgive me. I thought I could get some one to fill it out for me. I had laid it away. Bury me at Apple church."

Sought Neighbor's Help
Mrs. Plank said Miss Rager had been attempting to fill out an application for kerosene which she used for a stove and lamps in her room at the house and had spent most of Sunday with the Planks in an attempt to fill out the questionnaire. Other neighbors at Greenmount said Miss Rager had visited them to ask for assistance in filling out the form.

The deceased either did not sleep at all Monday night and this morning, or else had made her bed before going to the attic. Mrs. Plank told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

A standing agreement had been made between Mrs. Plank and the deceased when Miss Rager moved there for Mrs. Plank to investigate if she heard no sounds from Miss Rager's room in the morning because of Miss Rager's fear that she would die in her sleep. Mrs. Plank said. When she failed to hear Miss Rager about this morning, Mrs. Plank looked first in the room and then she looked through the house. Her searching led her to the attic where she discovered the body.

A number of nieces and nephews survive. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

REST ROOMS AT "Y" CLOSED; ASK FOR PUBLIC AID

The rest rooms at the YWCA building will be closed, beginning Wednesday, for an indefinite period "due to renovations and to abuse of the privileges granted the public in the use of the rooms," according to an announcement made by the members of the "Y" board of directors at a meeting Monday afternoon.

"Because Gettysburg has no public toilet facilities, an increasing number of persons have used the 'Y' rest room," the board announcement said. "This number has become so great that it has become impossible and beyond the financial resources of the 'Y' to keep the rest room in condition. Unless the town and county authorities will help in the project of supplying these facilities to the public, the directors consider that the rest room will have to be limited in its use."

Careless use of the "Y" facilities have resulted in considerable damage to the property, the directors said, and the resulting expense has been "too great" for the limited funds available. The directors called for public support for their request for county and borough assistance.

PLAN EXTRA HOURS

The Internal Revenue department office in the postoffice building here will remain open Wednesday evening until all persons who appear there with tax problems have been taken care of, Thomas C. McSherry, deputy collector, announced today. The office opens at 9 a. m.

KINSEY HEADS USO DRIVE FOR $28,780 HERE

Paul A. Kinsey was named chairman of the forthcoming 1943 financial campaign of the USO during which the local soldiers' aid unit plans to raise $28,780.12 in Adams county. The appointment was announced at a meeting of the executive committee of the USO held at the canteen on Chambersburg street, Monday evening.

Of the $28,000 to be raised during a drive to extend from October 15 to November 1, $2,000 will remain in Adams county for the use of the local USO. The largest percentage of the total amount will go to the National USO, the remainder will be divided between the United Seaman's Service, War Prisoners' Aid, Russian War Relief, United China Relief, British War Relief Society, Greek War Relief Association, Polish War Relief, United Yugoslav Relief fund, French Relief fund, Belgian War Relief Society, United Czechoslovak Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Norwegian Relief, Friends of Luxembourg, Refugee Relief Trusts, U.S. Committee for the Care of European Children, National War Fund Campaign and Administrative expenses and Contingent fund. The total national goal during the current drive will be $125,000,000, it was announced.

Two new members, Mrs. Ira Henderson, Fairfield, and Miss Florence Baschior, Littlestown, were named to the executive committee.

Mrs. Henderson replaces Mrs. Robert McCullough as Fairfield representative. Mrs. McCullough resigned recently when she left for a southern state to rejoin her husband, Lieutenant McCullough.

The system of having committees from the various church in charge over the week-end while the USO canteen is open for the use of members of the armed forces will be continued, it was decided. A group of women from the Presbyterian church, headed by Miss Anne Gilliland and Miss Anna Cairns, was in charge over last week-end. Flowers and home-baked cookies

Impersonation Of Hitler Will Feature "See Here, Mr. Smith" War Bond Revue

One of the features of the musical revue, "See Here, Mr. Smith," to be presented in the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening to stimulate sales in the Third War Bond drive will be an impersonation of Adolf Hitler, the Nazi Fuehrer, titled "Der Fuehrer's Face," by PFC Frank Bauer.

Private Bauer is said by those who have seen the performance to give an excellent impersonation of Hitler haranguing the Nazi party members at one of his "staged" mass meetings. His burlesquing of the German dictator is rated one of the "hits" of the show.

Other features include the 40-voice glee club and the "Musical Medicos."

Admission to the performance is by war bond. Tickets may be secured at the Majestic theatre in exchange for the receipt showing a bond purchase in the denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Bond buyers receive a receipt for each bond purchase. Receipts in the denominations listed above entitle the holder to one ticket of admission. Admission tickets are available at the Majestic theatre where the bond buyer may select the seat he or she wishes from a chart of the high school auditorium.

The musical revue contains a cast of 76 soldiers including a sixteen piece orchestra, around which the revue is arranged and a glee club. Specialty numbers are offered throughout the two-hour performance.

The committee is hopeful of selling a million dollars worth of bonds as admission tickets.

SPANISH AGAIN TAUGHT AT GHS; LACK TEACHER

The addition of Spanish to the curriculum at Gettysburg high school was approved Monday evening at the September meeting of the local school board. At the same session the directors, unable to decide upon a successor for Miss Dorothy Brindle, resigned music supervisor, left the matter of the selection in the hands of Superintendent L. C. Keefeauver.

Meanwhile music instruction is being omitted in the local public schools.

The Spanish course, which is being offered this year by Miss Ruth Spangler, who is also French instructor, is the first that has been offered at the local high school in 20 years. Spanish replaced German in the curriculum in 1917 but was dropped in 1924.

Set Tuition Rates

Plans to re-arrange the desks in one of the rooms at Lincoln school in order to take care of the overflow of students in the sixth grade were discussed Monday evening. Forty-two of the 82 students in the sixth grade are in one room, it was reported. Present seating arrangements will not be efficient during winter weather, the board was told.

Most of the matters before the board referred to improvements of the various school properties including reports on painting at the high school and other schools and the roofing of Lincoln school.

Tuition costs for the current year were set at $74.91 for non-resident high school students and $53.40 for elementary students.

Paul A. Kinsey, chairman of the Gettysburg Recreation Board, reported on activities at the playground during last summer and announced that plans are being discussed to construct several tennis courts at the grounds. No action has been taken so far on the courts, with the plans still in the tentative state, he reported.

The insurance policy for the building was discussed.

Mrs. Edwin Jones Dies At Shamokin

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, 85, widow of Edwin E. Jones, died Monday at her home in Shamokin from infirmities of age. She had been ill several months.

The deceased was a former resident of Gettysburg, having lived here from 1920 to 1930. While here she was a member of St. James Lutheran church.

Surviving are two sons, Edwin C. and George H., both of Shamokin; two daughters, Mrs. Arville Fausold, Shamokin, and Miss Ruth Jones, at home. Six grandchildren, including Kathleen and Winifred Jones, 11 Baltimore street, survive. Also surviving are three great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Jones was the mother of the late Arthur Jones, former manager here for the C. K. Eagle silk company.

"Y" DIRECTORS SEEKING OFFICE G.R. WORKERS

$316,519.95 Bond Sales

Incomplete returns from Monday's sales of war bonds in Adams county for the Third War Bond campaign netted $55,968.75 to swell the total sales thus far to $316,519.95, considerably short of the anticipated figures for the four days of selling.

Only five communities, a number of post offices and the Majestic theatre are included in Monday's report, less than half of the issuing outlets in the county.

One member of the committee tabulating the daily reports said that he had been informed that an unreported issuing outlet had completed a number of sales which, if true, will boost the sales well over the $400,000 mark. However, the committee stated it could not include unofficial reports in their daily figures.

All banks and other issuing agents are urged to make daily reports to Lloyd Kuhn at the Benderville bank so that Adams county can submit its complete figures each day to state headquarters.

11 More Enroll In Blue Star Brigade

Membership in the Blue Star Brigade, the organization of women who pledge to buy or sell at least $100 worth of war bonds during the Third War Bond campaign, now totals 63 with eleven new members enrolled up to noon today.

Bond sales at the booth in the Hotel Gettysburg lobby and at the First National bank totaled $4,100 today, boosting the grand total of bonds sold at the two booths in the current drive to over $16,000.

Names of the members will be published Wednesday.

TWO VACANCIES ARE FILLED BY TOWN COUNCIL; CURB SPENDING

Vernon Corle, East Middle street, and Fred Hummelbaugh, Buford avenue, who are candidates in today's balloting for positions on the borough council, were appointed by council, Monday evening, to serve out unexpired terms of two resigned members. Both unfinished terms end December 31.

Corle succeeds Wilbur J. Stall-smith in the first ward delegation and Mr. Hummelbaugh takes the place of Charles W. Sterner, Jr., in the second ward. Both elections were unanimous.

At the same special session, council held to an earlier established policy of "conservative" spending for the remainder of this year giving the Tiber improvement project—which is already underway—precedence over proposed street surfacing work that would have taxed the borough budget to the limit.

Council also adopted an amended schedule of rates to be charged for opening excavations in town streets over the objections of representatives of the Gettysburg Gas company who declared the charge of $1 for each test hole would be "unreasonable and unfair."

To Patch Streets
Studying present budget balances in the highway and sewer funds, council decided without a record vote to postpone until next year the application of surface coats of stone and tar on West High and Fifth streets until next spring. It was agreed at the same time that highway department expenditures for the remainder of this year, as far as street improvements are concerned, shall be limited to patching work which will cost an estimated $500.

The street program was brought before council by the report from Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner that the federal government has just released for public use supplies of tar that have been impossible to obtain most of the time since Pearl Harbor.

About $1,500 remains in the highway fund above the amount expected to be needed for regular expenses for the remainder of the year, council found. About $1,000 of that sum will be needed for the Tiber clearing work. Councilman Ray M. Hoffman opposed a suggestion that the street project be pushed through by spending the limit in sewer and highway departments.

Object to $1 Rate
The new schedule of rates for opening street surfaces was adopted by council on a voice vote after hearing statements from Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., counsel for the gas company; Gerald E. Wilson, district manager; H. H. Miller, local manager, and Robert Welsh, foreman.

Chief objections were leveled at the provision in the ordinance proposed by council's utility committee under which a charge of $1 would be made for each test hole drilled in the search for gas leaks throughout the company's system in the town. Council was told that no such charge is made by any other borough or cities in which the company operates.

Wilson said care is taken to avoid street damage by capping the 1½-inch holes overnight and by promptly closing them after the bar tests are made. The holes will be refilled by the company without cost.

Last Battle Of War May Be Underway

By WES GALLAGHER

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fierce German counter-attacks have regained some ground against the 24-mile Allied bridgehead near Salerno, it was announced today, but British troops battling up from Southern Italy are only some 100 miles from making a junction to support the Fifth Army.

The bloody Salerno fighting was equal to the desperate battles at Gallipoli in World War one.

Allied headquarters announced that the British had captured Cosenza in an advance up to the toe, and seized Bari, 65 miles above Brindisi on the advance coast.

Stiff Assaults
The British were pushing up past Cosenza and were only about 100 miles south of the lower hinge of the Fifth Army bridgehead. Eboli is 15 miles southeast of Salerno itself.

Allied tanks, infantry and planes supported by thunderous naval guns battled the Germans seeking to widen the Salerno area bridgehead only several miles deep at the maximum advance.

The points where the Nazis regained ground were not identified by headquarters.

Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring threw two armored divisions and the famous, reconstituted Hermann Goering division against Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, and overhead increasing numbers of Nazi planes were engaged by hundreds of Allied bombers and fighters.

The Allied communique gave no details of the situation at Salerno, saying merely:

British Advance
"Heavy fighting continues on the Fifth Army front. The Germans are counter-attacking desperately and at certain points have regained some of the ground taken by us."

The Eighth Army advanced approximately 10 miles up the West coast of Italy to reach Cosenza, 90 miles from Reggio Di Calabria and at about the center of the arch of the Italian foot.

On the heel of the boot other British forces were expanding their holdings out of Taranto and Brindisi.

One column was at Bari, 65 miles north of Brindisi on the Adriatic, and another, cutting diagonally across the heel from Taranto, was at Gioja, about midway between the naval base and Bari.

27 Italian Ships
Meanwhile, arrival of new Italian naval units at Malta swelled the strength of the erstwhile enemy fleet in Allied hands to 77 ships, including five battleships, one seaplane carrier, eight cruisers, 27 destroyers and 19 submarines.

In the fierce struggle near historic Naples, the Allies still had air superiority, but the Germans had closer airfields, permitting them to fly many sorties a day with a small number of planes.

The Allied bridgehead is not yet deep enough to support airdromes. It was becoming increasingly apparent, however, that Adolf Hitler was staking the future of Nazi Germany on the Salerno campaign.

Nazis Driven From Bastion Of Battleline

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Russian troops captured the fortress city of Bryansk last night, breaching the Germans' main defense line before the Dnieper river by seizure of the pivot of central and southern German battlelines and center of a railway spiderweb serving both fronts.

Evacuation of the keystone city, held by the Germans since October, 1941, was acknowledged today by the German radio soon after Moscow reported that the onpouring Red Army was closing in on the city some 80 miles west of Orel, on the west bank of the Desna river.

Nazis Fleeing

Disruption of the rail network vital for German winter transport heightened belief in London that the backward-scurrying Nazis would not be able to halt their retreat now before reaching the west bank of the Dnieper.

The speed of their withdrawal toward Kiev and Dnieperpetrovsk on the lower reaches of the river, where only three inadequate bridges and ferry crossings are available, raised hopes that large forces of Nazis might be trapped on the east bank of the Dnieper or even be overtaken while attempting to cross it.

The German broadcast by DNB declared Bryansk (normal population of 7,000) had been evacuated in good order, and the troops had been encircled or injured to "a considerable degree."

Allies Drive Japanese Out Of Salamaua

By The Associated Press
Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today that only "disintegrating" Japanese remnants—survivors of a force once estimated at 20,000 fought on against American and Australian troops driving toward the big enemy stronghold at Lae in northeast New Guinea.

A communique said the Japanese, in ragged flight from newly-fallen Salamaua 18 miles south of Lae, were striving to keep open a single jungle trail of retreat to Lae.

Dispatches said the enemy, discarding their death-standard tactics of past campaigns, "simply ran" out of bomb-gutted Salamaua town and let the Australians move in, as they had done 24 hours earlier at nearby Salamaua airdrome.

Offensive Base

Capture of Salamaua gives the Allies an important offensive base only 150 miles across Dampier Strait from Japanese-held New Britain.

Meanwhile, Allied long-range bombers plastered 10 Japanese bases from Makassar in the Dutch Celebes to the Solomon Islands and blew up gun batteries in the enemy's doomed citadel at Lae.

In Washington, the latest attack by U. S. Army bombers on Japan's Kurile Island base at Paramushiro was seen as the first payoff from the American conquest of the Aleutians.

Five Japanese ships, including two transports, were sunk or damaged in the raid on the big port, the key to Tokyo from the north, and U. S. fliers shot down 10 to 13 enemy fighters in a 50-minute running battle. Four American planes were lost and six others were missing.

On the Burma front, American and RAF warplanes hammered the Japanese over a wide area, blasting rail and river targets and Japanese troop encampments.

WARNS AXIS LEADERS OF EARLY TRIALS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Herr Hitler, Signor Mussolini, General Tojo—meet Mr. Cordell Hull.

Our Secretary of State has ideas which are intimately associated with your common welfare. He states that one of this country's war aims is to achieve an iron-clad peace for the world, backed by nations ready to use force to maintain it. He says "If there is anything on which all right-thinking people are agreed, it is that the monstrous specter of a world war shall not again show its head."

Now you three war-lords, as instigators of the present global blood-bath, should be deeply interested in Mr. Hull's declaration. He didn't say so specifically, but his thesis certainly seems to contemplate putting all of you out of circulation, because there can be no possible assurance of peace so long as you remain at large (or do you remain at large, Signor Mussolini?).

Of course, Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini, you wouldn't remember it, but back at the time of the fateful Munich conference I stood close enough to the pair of you so that I could have tickled both your noses with a feather. Since that day I've often pondered on how much anguish could have been saved the world had you both met violent ends then.

Maybe Hanging Is Too Good
Still, that wouldn't have been the right solution. It would have been trying to right one evil by doing another. As a matter of fact, putting you out of circulation doesn't necessarily mean taking your lives, though I'm sure that you who hold life so cheaply wouldn't mind facing a firing squad or yet the hangman.

However, it strikes me that the LEAST it can mean is depriving you of your liberty so long as you live. Maybe hanging is too good for you and that, as one of my colleagues remarks, you should be locked up and forced to listen continuously to phonographic records of your bombastic speeches. Anyway, your fate is something the Allies must decide, and the quicker they do it—and implement it—the better.

You'll remember, Fuehrer, how the Allies in the last war shouted themselves hoarse over hanging your predecessor in crime, the Kaiser. Then everybody got cold feet. The Kaiser lived long and well, until old age led him to his reward.

Eliminate War Lords
There's a far different atmosphere this time, though, because we know it's no good beating armies if we don't also eliminate the instigators of the aggression. The Axis armies are merely tools which are used by the war-lords, who reproduce their kind, generation after generation.

To ensure peace we Allies must get at the roots of the evil. In the case of Germany, Herr Hitler, we must eliminate from society in one way or another not only your wicked self but all your captains—like Goering, Himmler and Goebbels.

But we shall have to dig much deeper than that, because the real and perpetual mainspring of German aggression is Prussian militarism. We must eliminate the Prussian war lords as well—and they won't be hard to name.

Asks Speedy Trials
There's a very similar situation in Japan, General Tojo. These militarist rules. You and the other militarists are guilty of multiple aggression and untold atrocities. We're going to get you, Tojo, and your co-murderers.

As for Italy, Signor Soft Underbelly, we want you and a few other cowardly gangsters like your son-in-law Count Ciano. That's not asking much.

A most satisfactory solution of the problem (if any) growing out of your elimination from society would be to hold Allied courts martial as fast as you criminals are rounded up. We want no Roman holiday made of your trials—no theatricals, no fuss or feathers, no piddling about. We need dignified and speedy courts martial which will send you all to your just punishment—whatever that may be.

Last Battle

many on the ancient battlegrounds of his one-time Axis partner.

From the cloudy military and political situation on the Italian mainland the best information available gave this picture:

"Second Front"

1. Germany, with 15 to 20 divisions in Italy at the start of the campaign, has poured into the Italian boot tens of thousands more soldiers drawn from France and possibly Russia.

This combined with the reported appointment of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel as commanding officer in Italy indicates that Germany is establishing a battle line which may satisfy even the Russian concept of a "second front"—one which will engage at least 50 Nazi divisions.

2. The Germans also are reinforcing their air strength in Italy.

3. Despite Italian surrender the Germans have a firm grip on all strategic points from Naples north to the Po river, where a great final battle may well decide the war.

4. The Americans are launched on a campaign which seems likely to be their biggest and bloodiest of the war and the biggest for British troops since the fall of France.

5. The Allies enjoy a definite edge on the sea and in the air while the Germans for the time being probably have landed superiority, although they are having a difficult time moving their troops to meet Allied thrusts in several directions.

Threat To Balkans

6. Little help can be expected from the Italians, who are tired of fighting.

7. The Germans are determined to use every inch of Italy as a battle ground.

8. If Germany is defeated in Italy it likely means the collapse of her Satellites in the Balkans. The possibility that the war may be decided in Italy is based on the fact that the Germans seem determined to make a major stand there. If defeated at the Po the Germans, being military realists, may well give up to keep their country from being overrun and laid waste.

Blast Wrecks Dunlevy Home

Charleroi, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—A terrific gas explosion virtually demolished the frame home of former Burgess Froman Reucroft of nearby Dunlevy Sunday night, injuring his wife and breaking windows within a radius of two blocks.

The blast occurred a short time after the Reucrofts returned from a motion picture show and while they were seeking the source of escaping gas.

Mrs. Reucroft was hurled 15 feet into the basement.

were supplied by the Presbyterian group, it was stated.

More than 100 soldiers and sailors, about half from out-of-town, have visited the canteen so far with each of the men and women asked to register and give his parents' names. A card is sent each parent stating that his son has visited the canteen.

Ask for Records

A request was made to all persons in the county who have phonograph records to lend or donate some to the USO. Donors may either leave the records at the home of Mrs. M. J. Flynn, Baltimore street, or call Mrs. H. P. Baughman if the donor wishes someone from the USO to call for the records. In that way the USO hopes to build up a library of records for the phonograph now at the canteen.

All persons who are willing to drive members of the armed forces over the Battlefield were requested to phone Mrs. C. H. Smith and state at what time their car is available. A large number of the soldiers from out-of-town have never seen the Battlefield, the committee learned, and are anxious to make the trip.

A sign will be placed in the canteen window similar to the one now over the street and another sign will be placed at the square to direct soldiers to the canteen, it was decided.

Dance on September 25

September 25 was set as the date for the next USO dance, with the Annie Danner club in charge.

An orchestra comprising members of the 55th College Training Detachment at the college will provide music for the dance to be held in the college gymnasium, it was announced. Girls planning to attend the affair can receive their tickets as the YWCA at a date to be announced later.

Receipt of a number of articles for the canteen were acknowledged with a list of the donors to be prepared later.

Attending the session were, Dean W. E. Tilberg, chairman of the county USO, Paul Kinsey, Mrs. Frederic Griest, Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas, Mrs. Radford Lippy, Mrs. Grover Myers, Mrs. M. J. Flynn, Mrs. H. Steele Stuchell and Prof. Donald Heiges.

ers at the school buildings was renewed for three years with John H. Basehoar. The use of the high school auditorium for the bond rally show September 21 was approved.

Following the reading of a letter from the state highway department pointing out that the department "does not approve" of the use of metal school boys at corners where school children cross, the board took advantage of a provision which allows use of the school boys until other signs can be erected and ordered the placing of the school boys at the regular times. The school boys had not been placed during the first week of school pending receipt of the decision by the State department of highways in regards to the legality of the signs.

It was reported that the cafeteria at the high school was being operated with Mrs. Pinkney Hess in charge during the mornings.

Mrs. Hess will assume full charge of the cafeteria later this fall, it was stated, after she has completed her present employment at a local factory.

to the borough, it was stated.

Based on Costs
Borough officials pointed out that the cost of inspecting the street openings and repairing them over a period of years was taken into consideration in 1933 when the borough set the digging rates. The rates are not "exorbitant," the utility men were told. Mr. Winebrenner declared the "tensile strength" of the street would be reduced by the openings. Welsh disagreed.

Council's vote was unanimous adopting the amendment to the 1927 ordinance which was first amended in 1933. The amendment provides a $2 application fee on each permit. It provides that before the permit is issued, the applicant shall pay the burgess the restoration and resurfacing costs, excepting for bar test holes in which case a $1 charge is made provided the applicant elects to restore the holes within 10 days. In dirt streets the restoration schedule is at the rate of $2 for each lineal foot of trench; on oil bound macadam streets at the rate of $3 per square yard, and on water bound macadam and concrete, $6 per square yard.

President H. M. Oyler presided at the meeting with all members of council present. Solicitor E. V. Bul-leit, Secretary Wilmer Dracha, Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer, Treasurer John H. Basehoar and Mr. Winebrenner also were present.

Seek Cause In Station Blaze
Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—If trains didn't run all the way to the Pennsylvania railroad's Broad Street station, where the train sheds were swept by a $250,000 fire Sunday, they came within a block of it today.
And passengers boarded them from a temporary wooden platform which workmen imported with carloads of material from other points on the system started to build before the flames died down.

The city's fire bureau, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and city detectives, meanwhile, continued looking into the cause of the eight-alarm blaze. Public Safety Director James H. Malone said after a hearing yesterday that his department would file a

Cardinals May Gain Title By Week-End; Braves And Brooklyn Divide Twin Bill

By JUDSON BAILEY

(By The Associated Press)

There isn't any mystery about which teams are going to win the major league pennants, but a lot of fans are rushing for pencil and paper to figure out when the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees will get around to clinching their championships.

It may contribute to the calm and orderly processes of arithmetic, therefore, to point out that there will be no clinchings before next week-end and the situation can be explored without the aid of rapid calculus.

The Cardinals can settle the senior circuit controversy with any combination of five victories for themselves or five defeats for their immediate pursuers, the Brooklyn Dodgers, while the magic combination for the Yankees is ten, and consequently further removed.

Long Layoff

The Cardinals might be able to make short shrift of their pennant problem except that they haven't played since last Saturday and aren't scheduled again until Thursday, when they will embark on a six-game four-day series with the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers have single games today and tomorrow with the Boston Braves, will be idle Thursday, and then play a four-game set with the New York Giants.

Out of this action should come the Cardinals' clincher, but it can't arrive before Saturday.

Here are the figures for both races:

National League
	W.	L.	G.A.T.P.
St. Louis	90	44	15½ 20
Brooklyn	75	60	19

American League
	W.	L.	G.A.T.P.
New York	85	49	11½ 20
Cleveland	73	60	21

Both the Yanks and Indians will be reasonably busy this week as a result it would be possible for New York to put over the clincher Sunday if it were to win all its games in the meantime and Cleveland were to lose continuously, but since this is unlikely, and next Monday and Tuesday are open dates in both leagues, the best guess is that the Yankees will not nail down their pennant until the latter part of next week.

Wyatt Wins

Action in the majors yesterday was confined to Boston, where the Braves completed their suspended game of July 18 with the Brooklyn Dodgers and obtained a 7-6 tenning triumph, but lost the regularly scheduled contest 10-3 in the face of six-hit hurling by Whit Wyatt and a 17-hit assault by the Dodgers.

The suspended game had been halted because of the Massachusetts Sunday curfew with the score tied at 4-4 in the sixth inning. The teams resumed with hammer and tons and Tommy Holmes eventually settled the issue with a run-scoring single in the overtime frame.

Light Maroon Squad Shows Spirit During Recent Drills

There appears to be a definite shortage of manpower at Gettysburg high school where Coach Melvin Dry and his Maroon grid candidates began their third week of practice Monday in preparation for their opening game of the season Friday evening, September 24, at Carlisle.

Coach Dry has but 23 men on his varsity squad. So far the candidates have escaped serious injury in several scrimmages. On Monday the Maroons were sent through another snappy scrimmage.

As a whole, the squad is comparatively light, the heaviest man being Sammy Weaver, 175, tackle, the only letterman remaining from last year. Speed is one of the strong points of the Maroon squad.

While positions are still wide open and will remain that way indefinitely, an indication of the team to take the field against Carlisle has been given in the lineups used by Coach Dry in recent drills.

Pat McGlaughlin, six-foot three-inch end, and Eugene Fidler have been pairing up on the wing positions on one squad. Sammy Weaver and Charley Weaver have been pairing up at tackles with Dick Epley and Curwin Sanders at guards. Fred Haehlen is at the snapper-back position.

Fast Backs

Coach Dry has Eugene Timbers and Sterritt Dorsey in the backfield who saw action with the varsity last season although they failed to gain letters. Both are exceptionally fast. Thomas Small, quarterback; Bernard Little, right half.

Two Newcomers May Open For Cards

St. Louis, Sept. 14 (AP)—Two newcomers to the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff may get starting chances in the World Series.

Remembering the showing young Johnny Beazley made against the veteran Red Ruffing last year, Manager Billy Southworth is keeping his eyes on two southpaw rookies, Alpha Brazle and Harry Brecheen. As the Cardinals announced the start of World Series ticket sales, Southworth said he hasn't definitely picked Mort Cooper for the first game.

Should Cooper or Max Lanier run and Willie Tonsel, left halfback, have been working in as ball carriers.

On another team are Russell Howard and George Thrush, ends; Ira Dorsey, tackle; Robert Hess, guard and center; William Sperry, guard; William Troxell, fullback; Knox, halfback; Reds Shaner, quarterback, and Milton Moyer, halfback.

The next two weeks promise to be busy ones for the Maroon squad. Although the outlook is dark, Coach Dry is hoping to pull some surprises with his new system and is being aided by the fine spirit shown by his entire squad.

Frisch Gets New Pirate Contract

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Along with hearty congratulations on having a team that likely will finish in first division in the National league, Frankie Frisch yesterday was handed a contract for another year as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Frank has done a good job this year," declared Club President William Benswanger, announcing the arrangement.

No announcement was made as to Frisch's salary. The agreement holds for one year.

"I am sure," said Benswanger, "that all fair-minded followers of the Pirates will agree with me that Manager Frisch has done all that could have been expected of him or any other manager under the conditions that have existed during the 1943 season, and that he is in all fairness entitled to a continuation of his contract."

into defeat in the opener, Southworth may turn to his two first-year pitchers who have been carrying their share of the load.

Brecheen, with 31 walks and 59 strikeouts in 116 innings, verges on the good-pitcher proportion of passes to whiffs—one to two, and has a 9-5 win margin.

Brazle, since joining the Cardinals from Sacramento two months ago, has yielded a total of only 14 runs, earned and unearned, in 62 innings—an average of two in each nine innings. He won six and lost one.

RED ROSES WIN IN INTERSTATE PENNANT RACE

By BOB HOFMANN

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—When the Lancaster (Pa.) Red Roses lost 5-4 to Trenton (N. J.) but won the Interstate league title last night it was a perfect finish to as wacky a pennant race as any league ever experienced anywhere.

For instance, when the New Orleans Pelicans started a triple play in the outfield the other day, Larry Gilbert and Ray Blades said it was the first time they had seen it happen in their combined 57 years in baseball.

Shucks, gents, the Class B Interstate had two triple plays started in the outfield this season. Five men handled the ball on one of them.

The Interstate also had a 57-year-old pitcher, Tom "Lefty" George of York (Pa.), who started for the west team in the league's All-Star game and hurled several scoreless innings.

One of its leading pitchers, Woody Wheaton, played in almost every game. He managed the Lancaster team, worked in the outfield when he wasn't pitching—and hit over 300.

Playoffs Ahead

The oddest score of the year was 29 to 0.

But the payoff came when someone discovered Lancaster and the Hagerstown Owls played an unscheduled doubleheader — and League President Arthur Ehlers threw out the second game because the teams had played each other too many times.

The ruling erased a Hagerstown (Md.) victory and a Lancaster defeat. Otherwise, the finish might have been different. They end the season tonight playing a single game apiece, with the Roses holding a game and a half lead over the Owls who lost, too, last night. Wilmington (Del.) beat them 4-3.

In the playoffs, starting Thursday night, Lancaster meets third-place Wilmington and Hagerstown opposes fourth-place York, which, having finished its season, played the New Cumberland (Pa.) Reception Center team last night and lost 5-0 to Tommy Hughes' four-hit pitching.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE UNCONQUERABLE

Let the tyrant and the pagan learn this truth, as soon they must,
There's no strength in man's dominion quite so strong as being just.

Let the Jap and Hun discover, as ere very long they will,
There's more might in honest dealing than in power to crush and kill.

They have laughed at us for seeking happier goals than they could find.
They have sneered at us for teaching it is noble to be kind.

For the pagan and the tyrant never yet have understood
That ten thousand flaming cannon cannot make an evil good.

They've no code save bursting powder and no creed save that of might.
In their teaching all is terror, with no hint of what is right.

But one fact they have forgotten, which is: force however strong,
Save it's based on truth and honor, cannot prosper here for long.

Tell the tyrant and the pagan, tell the Jap and tell the Hun
They are destined for destruction although long the war may run.
Be it one year more or many, how-soever strong they grow,
To the side that fights for justice is the victory sure to go.

THE COMMON THINGS AT HAND

Our forefathers were self-dependent. They knew how to do many things—and they did each one well. They were in no hurry, either. They thought toward permanence. They lived full lives. That is why their heritage of courage, ingenuity and character increasingly becomes so precious to us.

In all early beginnings the common things at hand serve a great purpose. When Henry Ford was experimenting on his gas combustion engine, his first model was made from a piece of pipe that he picked up somewhere, and other pieces, that he hitched together above the kitchen sink. And Mrs. Ford was his helper!

At my summer camp I live on an island where a trip to town takes an entire day from me, depriving me of the glory of wandering, tinkering and doing odd, happy tasks, so I have learned to be my own plumber, carpenter, electrician, painter and boatman. I save everything—string, screws, nails, boards, strange devices, and anything that I think may serve some purpose at some time or other. And so, when a job has to be done, I have the common thing at hand.

It is both fun and thrilling to devise things—to make something out of almost nothing! The early pioneers who sacrificed so much, and who gave of their strength to build this wonderful Western country, did so with the common things at hand. If they didn't have the tool they wanted, they made it on the spot. They became inventive through necessity.

It is a wonderful thing to become creative minded. It stimulates every faculty of the mind. Often, thereby, men surprise themselves! Which is about the happiest of surprises.

Every one of us houses more talent and ability than we ever tap, or even think that we have. By learning to accurately observe, and to adapt the ideas that we have discovered as useful, we may all become inventors and discoverers. The common things, the ideas at

NEW PROCEDURE ON TRUCK SALES AFTER SEPT. 15

After September 15 both buyers and sellers of used trucks must sign a certificate of transfer, it was pointed out today by the OPA District Office in Harrisburg. Buyers must deliver all signed certificates to their local War Price and Rationing Boards.

No certificate of transfer is necessary for a sale to a dealer who is defined as a person who buys, sells, repairs and reconditions used vehicles and who maintains a place of business for these operations.

Trucks will no longer be priced as "reconditioned." Instead a dealer may sell a truck with a warranty statement which warrants that the vehicle is in good working condition; that it will remain in good condition for 30 days, or for at least 1,000 miles, whichever occurs first. Under the warranty the buyer must bring the vehicle to the dealer for service.

Depreciated Yearly
Vehicles sold without a warranty are priced "as is." The spread between the "as is" price and the "warranted" price is designed to encourage delivery of machines in good running condition. Vehicles are now depreciated yearly instead of monthly or semi-annually.

Prices for "as is" trucks at dealer level under the new regulation will range from 92 to 33 per cent of value when new over a period of 10 years instead of the former 90 to 26 per cent prices for a period of six years.

"Warranty ceilings" will range from 11 to 17 per cent higher than the "as is" ceilings, depending on the age of the vehicle sold, replacing former allowance of five per cent. This is done to bring prices more nearly in line with values of vehicles in better than average condition.

The new regulation does not apply to off-the-highway vehicles.

FATHER KILLED
Madera, Sept. 13 (AP)—John Mohnal, 56, father of 10 children, was killed Sunday at the Mid-Penn Number 4 mine here when his clothing was caught in an air fan.

Dr. Anna Kuglar, of the Lutheran Mission in India, visited the Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Wolf last week. Dr. Kuglar will speak on the "Women of India" at the World's Fair.

Miss Anna Medary, of Philadelphia, is visiting Mrs. Harry C. Sanders.

Miss Ida Bowers has returned home from a six weeks' visit at Union Bridge, Md.

Ira Tipton has returned to Philadelphia.

T. S. Slentz, of the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., is spending his vacation with relatives in this place.

W. W. Hafer and wife, of Abbotstown, are at the World's Fair.

Mrs. Sarah R. Hay has gone to Harrisburg to make her home with her son, Dr. John Hay.

Base Ball: The town club, weakened by the absence of several of its strongest players, was easily beaten by the college team on Saturday by a score of 7 to 1. The former was outplayed and the game was won on its merits. The fielding of Keefer, Miller and H. Martin was fine. The batting of neither side was heavy, but the hits of the college boys were very opportune.

BLONDE NAMED "MISS AMERICA"

A tanned California blonde who resembles the late screen star, Carole Lombard, was "Miss America" Monday and directors of the annual Atlantic City beauty pageant estimated the 19-year-old co-ed would earn $10,000 during the year.

People say: "Yes, there's plenty of money and jobs now—but what about after the war? How can Business assure employment? Won't there be another depression? Won't the Government have to 'spend and spend' again?"

What do you honestly think about it yourself? Don't you believe that American industry . . . if given the chance . . . could do as brilliant a job in peace as it is now doing in war?

Don't you believe that the average manufacturing plant could start making peacetime products again and bring back all its old workers if it had orders?

Don't you believe that those orders could be assured if people—after this war—had the money to put down for things they want to own?

War Bonds may well prove to be the answer to this whole problem of postwar employment for you, your sister's boy and the boy down the street who's now in the Air Corps.

"YOUR HOME FRONT," he comes back... "your people at home are too soft and selfish to make sacrifices. And unless they buy you the guns and tanks and planes, your INVASION will be a slaughter."

"Listen Nazi," I snapped, "right now, my country is planning the 3rd War Loan — 15 Billion dollars — to pay for this INVASION. They'll do it, too! I've got a family — mother, father, sisters and brothers, aunts and uncles. I've got friends that write to me regularly. They won't let me down. They're buying War Bonds now, but they'll buy extra Bonds this month."

"Fool," sneers this Nazi, "your Americans at home talk big—but they're more interested in luxuries than in your life. When it comes to sacrifice, that's your job—alone."

I walked away . . . I was seeing red.

But I thought I'd better speak to you, anyway. Just in case you might think they're kidding about this 3rd War Loan. They're not—that money will pay for INVASION equipment.

I understand that every American is asked to buy at least one extra $100 War Bond this month. But don't stop there—I know a lot of you can and will invest thousands—you've got to, to put it over. Buy War Bonds out of pay checks, dig the money out of the old sugar bowl or wherever it is—but for the luvva Mike, buy all you can! Over here, we know how important it is, and we're buying Bonds out of our pay. But we don't make much, so it's up to you at home, really.

It's a darned good investment, anyway. What else carries the backing of the whole United States Government behind it?

Well—I know you'll buy extra bonds—I just wanted to make sure you know how important it is to put everything you've got behind us.

Write soon, will you? And I'll drop you a line from Berlin, one of these days.

ITALY'S FALL LIKE "KNIFE IN RIBS" TO AXIS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Hitler's screams of rage at Italy's "treachery," and his feverish efforts to offset the debacle with a bewildering barrage of propaganda and such theatricals as the establishment of a puppet government in Rome, show clearly that the moral effect of his Axis partner's collapse is like a knife between the ribs.

Frequently it's difficult to separate the moral and military effects at a confused moment like this, because military adversity follows the moral shock so quickly. However, it strikes me that in the long run the moral aspect of this historic surrender is going to be the biggest Allied gain.

Recognition of this drove the Fuehrer to the microphone Saturday to try to prevent a stampede at home and abroad by double talk. That speech was underscored with fear. It wasn't the same old arrogant Hitler who strove to produce oily words to pour on the troubled waters, but a badly frightened Herr Sicklebruber who found the oil barrel empty. This fear he deliberately handed on to his people in an effort to hold them in line.

At least twice the master gangster trotted out the old bugbear of Allied intention to destroy Germany and other Axis countries—one of Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels's favorite lines. "We all know that in this merciless struggle the defeated will be annihilated according to the wishes of our enemies," Hitler broadcast. And he declaimed that "all attempts to force the fate of an enslaved nation upon the German people will fail." It was the same old Goebbels's line, the like of which I've heard the propaganda minister hand to a vast outdoor audience of 50,000 in Berlin—that if Germany loses the war "she will be broken up and destroyed."

Won't be "Annihilated"

Why did Hitler return to this idea so insistently? Undoubtedly because the humanitarian though firm manner in which the Allies have been handling the Italian situation makes him fear that the German people, and other Axis peoples, will realize that unconditional surrender doesn't mean that they are to be destroyed.

The whole world has been watching to see what would happen to a defeated member of the Axis. Now the world knows that while Italy must pay the full and heavy price for Mussolini's brigandage, she isn't going to be "annihilated" or "enslaved." On the contrary, the world sees that the Allies even are preparing to lend the Italians a helping hand in the way of providing food and other essentials.

I believe that's going to have a tremendous effect on the German people and on other enemy countries. This may seem strange to Americans who aren't accustomed to think in blood thirsty terms, but it becomes understandable when one stops to consider the manner in which Hitler not only literally has enslaved millions of unfortunates, but has murdered countless thousands in cold blood.

At Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—William T. Connor, Republican, was out of a job as counsel for the Philadelphia county commissioners and board of elections as the city's voters straggled to the polls in today's primary election.

The commissioners unexpectedly dismissed Connor, who had held the post more than 20 years, yesterday with John J. Hennessey and James C. Clark, Democratic members, voting for and Morton Witkin, Republican member, voting against the ouster.

Belleville, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—A letter mailed 45 years ago has finally reached Capt. E. R. Taylor.

Taylor said the letter was sent him while he was in a camp during the Spanish-American war, but was given to a Kane soldier by mistake. The other soldier forgot the message and it lay among his belongings until it was found recently. Then the Kane man located Taylor in Belleville and delivered the letter personally.

Flashes Of Life

BAD FOOTWORK
Cleveland, (AP)—Frank Luti-nacci a visitor from Homestead, Pa., ran out of money while fleeing three would-be burglars.

He told police he was accosted by the robbers in an alley and ran so fast he lost his right shoe—in which he had secreted an envelope containing $60.

ONWARD AND UPWARD
Salt Lake City, (AP)—The safety committee of the Salt Lake City Council of Women has struck at what it declared is the country's unhealthiest habit.

It has recommended a moratorium on kissing for the duration.

WAR CRY
San Francisco, (AP)—Detachment of camouflaged State Guardsmen crawled through the brush attempting a second group of maneuvers.

But the attacking group became technical casualties in short order. Three small boys, Jimmie, Bruce and Richard Wood, spotted them, and with a series of whoops and shouts, gave away their position.

NORMALCY
St. Helens, Ore., (AP)—A visitor rushed into a friend's home, shouting "there's a Russian boat sunk in the channel!"

The friend dashed toward the Columbia river and the visitor pointed toward an object with only long spars and a red flag showing plainly above the water.

"That," said the old-timer, gently, "is the U. S. Engineer dredge, Multnomah."

It always looks like that.

THE HOME FRONT
Moscow, Idaho, (AP)—Pvt. Ernest L. Griat went through the Pearl Harbor raid and 18 months of campaigning in the South Pacific—and didn't suffer a scratch.

On a peaceful Idaho farm recently he was examining a rifle. It discharged, and Griat was wounded in the hand.

General Pershing Follows War At 83

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—General John J. "Black Jack" Pershing celebrated his 83rd birthday quietly Monday in a Walter Reed hospital suite, keeping up with war news in a living room lined with maps.

The commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Force in the first World war advised attendants he was "against a lot of fuss," and planned to stick to his daily routine of a brief walk or motor trip in the morning, with reading and letter writing the rest of the day.

Minnesota contains more than 11,000 lakes.

THE LONG NIGHT

By Eleanor Atterburg

Chapter 28

Frantic as the morning wore on and still no sign of Sue, Bette contrived excuses to run errands to every conceivable part of the Post. No Sue. Torn between awful anxiety for her sister and desire to shield her from the penalties for being A.W.O.L., Bette had about decided she must report Sue's absence. Because if she were lost or—

Scott would know what to do. She must ask him. In her despair, she instinctively turned to him and the very thought that he would assume responsibility relieved some of the panic.

But Captain MacQuaid had been called away just before dawn. No one seemed to know why or where he had gone.

Scott gone too! But of course there couldn't be any connection. It must be sheer coincidence that both had disappeared at the same time.

Slowly Bette went back to the hospital. Growing phoenix-like out of the old ashes, the new prefabricated building was already standing and, in a matter of hours now, would be ready for use. But Bette hardly saw it. A new resolve was occupying her whole attention. If Sue in her rage had deliberately attempted to lose herself in the forest, then it was Bette's responsibility to get her back again and without attracting the attention of the whole Post.

She pleaded illness and was granted four hours relief from duty. Then she ran directly toward the river. Sue's knowledge of the country would be small, Bette knew.

Stumbling as she ran, Bette followed the stream's bank until she found the first evidence that at last she was on the right path. Lying just off the beaten track, something glittered in the sunlight. Bette stopped, picked up a compact. Dented from its fall, its mirror smashed, Bette recognized it nonetheless. It had been a good-bye present from one of Sue's boy friends at home.

Bette stood a moment trying to discover some other clue that would point the way Sue had taken. She was still standing, undecided, when she heard the voices. A man's low-toned voice, steady, calm. And a woman's weeping.

She scrambled up the bank, followed what proved to be a faint trail carpeted with pine needles. It was Sue's voice she heard, and the relief brought quick tears to Bette's eyes. And Scott. When she was near enough to understand what they were saying, it stopped her short.

"—And you see, after I got lost out here this morning, I had time to think about what I had said to Bette." Sue's voice came unsteadily through her sobs. "And I began to be afraid I'd never get back, never have a chance to tell her—how sorry I was. To ask her to forgive me."

power Commission today to remain open until 9 p. m. tomorrow, deadline for men in non-deferrable occupations to register for jobs in essential industry.

THE END OF September is in sight. And the end of September brings us close to the end of the 3rd War Loan drive.

If you haven't bought $100 worth of extra War Bonds—extra, mind you—dig up that money and buy your share today!

Men who are fighting for you . . . bleeding for you . . . ready to die for you . . . are waiting for the news that you people at home are backing them up 100%.

They know what invasion costs in blood and lives. They know, too, what it costs in equipment, munitions, supplies, that must reach the front in a never-ending stream. And they're counting on you for the money that goes to keep that stream flowing.

No matter what you have to sacrifice . . . no matter how much it pinches . . . you cannot let them down!

Pittsburgh Sells Huge Bond Total

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP)—Pittsburgh kicked in the Third War Loan drive to the tune of $87,000,000 Sunday.

A bond rally at Forbes Field, at which the Hollywood Cavalcade of film stars played the leading part, alone realized $70,000,000. That figure, announced by Miss Greer Garson, brought tremendous shouts from an overflow throng of approximately 40,000 persons who gained admittance with the purchase of bonds ranging from $25 to $1,000,000.

A "five million dollar dinner," at which bonds of the higher bracket were required for admission, added substantially to the total sales.

The rally and dinner were preceded by a parade through Pittsburgh which police estimated attracted 150,000 persons. Film stars also participated in this.

LIGHT VOTE IN STATE TODAY

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—Pennsylvanians voted today on candidates for one state-wide office and uncounted hundreds of county, city, borough and township posts with results of the primary election destined to determine local party leadership in many communities.

Party leaders predicted only about one-fourth of the state's 4,350,000 registered voters were taking part in the election but said tabulation likely would be slow because of the long list of candidates seeking nomination in every county. Polls close at 8 p. m.

On the ballots over the state were candidates for one superior court judgeship, 27 mayoralty posts and 49 county judgeships. Legal sale of liquor and beer was an issue in nearly 100 places.

Nominees will bear party standards in the November 2 general election and victorious factions within parties will control their local organizations regardless of who wins in November. The intra-party contests enlivened a generally listless campaign since party control will be an important factor during the important 1944 presidential and senatorial elections.

Candidates for the only state-wide office—an $18,000 a year superior court seat—were without opposition. They were Sitting Judge Claude T. Reno, Republican, and County Judge Curtis Bok, Philadelphia, Democrat.

Court Actions On Eve Of Primaries

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Damage suits for $250,000 against President Judge H. S. Dumbauld, Attorney Wade K. Newell and A. C. Moyer, a contractor, filed by the three Fayette county commissioners and two other county officials, further enlivened the local political fights on the eve of today's primary.

Commissioners John W. Rankin, Arthur Higinbotham and Michael Karolick; Controller Albert Montgomery and County Engineer E. C. McCollough each asked $50,000 damages.

The five charged the Judge, Newell and Moyer had "contrived, falsely and maliciously, intending to injure their good name, fame and credit and to bring them into public scandal, infamy and disgrace."

The suit accused Moyer of having falsely "inferred" during a hearing about a road injunction, the five had shared a "kickback" of more than $8,000.

The commissioners all are seeking renomination. They were convicted several weeks ago at one trial on charges of mishandling money, but acquitted at two other trials and face another.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Werner Meinung, six, of Mohnton, was fatally injured yesterday, Police Chief Adam Bearinger said, when the scooter on which he was riding down hill collided with an automobile.

ADVANCE MILK PRICES FROM FARM TO TABLE

Harrisburg, Sept. 14 (AP)—New tentative price orders will be issued soon by the Milk Control Commission to complete the adjustment program now underway in Pennsylvania, Commissioner H. N. Cobb reported today.

The commission yesterday tentatively boosted retail prices in half the state and advanced prices paid producers. Cobb said additional orders will cover the rest of Pennsylvania except Philadelphia where prices are under federal control. He said he could not disclose effect of the forthcoming orders.

Cobb pointed out prices ordered by the commission are subject to approval by the Office of Price Administration and added: "We haven't any indication of what action they will take."

Doorstep Cost to Rise

In Washington, the OPA announced last night a new effort to slash food prices about half-way back to the September, 1942, level. The program includes an appeal to Congress to stabilize milk prices.

Tentative orders disclosed by the commission yesterday—designed to help farmers meet higher operating costs—would advance the price of a quart of milk from 14 to 17 cents in central area 10, southern portion of state-wide area 11 and northwestern area 17. Prices paid producers there would advance from $3.25 to $4.35 per hundredweight (46 1/2 quart) of class one fluid milk.

Doorstep delivery costs would move up from 15 to 17 cents a quart and the producer price from $3.45 to $4.35 in southwestern area 3; Scranton area 5; Erie area 7; Harrisburg area 8; Johnstown-Altoona area 9; York area 12; Lancaster area 14 and Reading-Berks area 15.

Says Supplies Save Army Lives

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Rep. J. Buell Snyder (D) of Perryopolis, Pa., chairman of an appropriations subcommittee handling Army funds, predicted Monday that the War Department would need $50,000,000,000 for next year's operations.

The department was voted $59,000,000,000 in cash and $12,000,000,000 in unexpended balances from previous appropriations for the fiscal year that started last July 1. The additional $50,000,000,000 would be for the year starting next July 1.

Snyder attributed the saving of from 25,000 to 30,000 American lives in the African campaign to the Army's overabundance of supplies. "Behind our lines," he said, "we had more than enough reserve material of all sorts to keep the fighting lines going. This was due to the insistence of General Marshall, chief of staff, that before a big push is started, we should have on hand everything we need, multiplied by two."

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Reading, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Clarence James Robertson, 37, was held on a warrant charging murder yesterday in the shooting of Oliver White of Furnace Row, Temple, Sunday. District Attorney James F. Marx said Robertson admitted shooting White, also known as "Sugar" Thomas, at a political club after an argument over a torn dollar bill.

CONTINUES TRIP

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt left Australia today, ending an 11-day visit. "Mrs. Roosevelt's destination was not given in the dispatch probably for reasons of security. She visited New Zealand before going to Australia."

Guards Discharged In Strike Probe

Philadelphia, Sept. 14 (AP)—Two of four Brewster Aeronautical corporation guards whose arrest precipitated a strike last month at Brewster's Johnsville, Pa., plant, have been given "bad conduct discharges" from the U. S. Coast Guard Reserve (temporary), the Fourth Naval District announced.

The guards, Richard Belli and Kenneth Bodine, were found guilty by a Navy court martial of disobeying Coast Guard officers at the plant, the Navy said. Verdicts in the cases of two other guards, Fred Darling and Robert Spratt, tried by the Navy on the same charge, have not been made public.

NO MATTER WHAT IS WRONG BRING THE TIRE TO US

A BREAK IN YOUR TIRE CAN BE FIXED. First we inspect the tire thoroughly inside and out. Then we clean out all the broken cords and loose rubber much the same as a dentist cleans a tooth. A patch is carefully applied, replacing all broken cords. The outside is filled and the repair is then vulcanized—good for thousands of miles with today's slow driving.

YOUR TIRES CAN BE RECAPPED without a ration certificate. But the job must be done before you wear the tread down too thin, otherwise you waste rubber. Our recaps stand up because of the quality of workmanship, materials and equipment used. The recapping material, made from reclaimed rubber, will give satisfactory service if tires are inflated to 32 lbs. and speeds kept below 35.
